On the 10th of December, Mordialloc College was flooded with 100 enthusiastic, and slightly nervous Grade 6 students, ready and excited to experience their first day at high school. With a few tears (some from the parents) and hesitant goodbyes, the day got underway.

The year 7 teaching team for 2014, joined by several current Year 7 students, led a series of interactive workshops throughout the day to allow the Grade 6s to get to know each other, to get to know the teachers and to begin to familiarize themselves with the Learning Centre and the rest of the school.

Former student Josh Mulcahy had the students singing and rapping about Mordialloc College, channeling their inner Jay Z and Alicia Keys in the music workshop, Ms K tapped into their creativity with a “Pass the story” writing activity, Mr Tzimourtas shaped a few minds with his patented spin bowling technique in the sports rotation, Ms Hughes showed off our beautiful school grounds and buildings with a school tour, and each Grade 6 worked with the Year 7s to create a short identity video using the iPads.

After we enjoyed a delicious BBQ cooked by Mr Randell, Mr McIntyre and Mr Williams, we all watched the identity videos, introducing each Grade 6 student to their new classmates.

I can speak on behalf of the Year 7 teaching team when I say that we are so looking forward to 2014!
